Thanks Everett! I'm not even needing a garage, as much as not wanting to be harassed for setting up there. I don't think space is a problem....

So it's too late to get a garage now, but let's see when you get there. There are a few left that can be rented at the track; it's first come/first serve on those. When do you think you'll arrive? I expect to get there Friday around 5 or 6.

On a completely different topic, but related to this weekend, does anyone have a right front strut housing that has been cut and capped for a Koni? I think mine is bent because camber setting is proving to be a problem. If so, please let me know to discuss.

Thanks!

We may, but if we do, I'm sure it's for early.

I usually bring a spare. I think they are the same left and right and all fit Konis
