

O2 sensor question

Posted by wera44 - 19 Nov 2015 22:13

I'm installing a Autometer wideband gauge and want to install the new sensor in the stock location. The gauge doesn't have a narrowband output for the dme, will my car still run ok without the factory O2 sensor installed to do I need to just weld another bung in to run them both?

I wouldn't say I'm an expert but I can say that mine was unplugged the last 2 seasons and the car seemed fine. In fact on the dyno it made zero difference.
